Artist Statement

I like to create a contemporary edge and intensity to my portrait paintings. I may combine a character and likeness with a reference to colour fields, abstraction, text and automatic drawing, film and photography. These qualities together with pose and composition are negotiated with the sitter adding to a deeper personal meaning. My portraits may be produced for an individual or as part as a series relating to an engagement with an institution, for example "Face Value" consisted of 17 portraits of adolescents drawing attention to the way we value and categorise identities in schools.
